Youth Passion, Global Action:

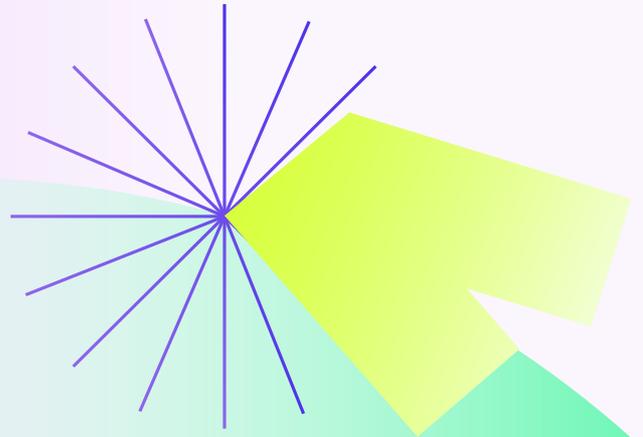

Pioneering the Path to Net-Zero Future

The Global Alliance of Universities on Climate (GAUC) is proud to announce the launch of the brand new 2024 'Climate x' Leadership Training Program!

The youth generation is the backbone of the net-zero future, serving not only as inheritors but also as owners, creators, and leaders of this future. The ideology of 'Climate X' emphasizes that the global development issues we face are interconnected. Achieving carbon neutrality requires respecting nature, crossing disciplinary barriers, and exploring innovative solutions that synergize climate action with the other 16 SDGs.

Strategically supported by UNESCO and its global partners, The training program aims to empower youth with the knowledge, skills, and tools, helping them globally envision a sustainable future, take meaningful action, and unlock their potential as talents for a carbon-neutral future.

“Transitioning to a carbon-neutral economy does not just mean switching away from fossil fuels, it is, rather, a paradigm shift in development, which will give rise to a new model of modernization that can benefit the world and contribute to a green and prosperous future.”

Lord Nicholas Stern

Chair of GAUC’s Academic Committee
